The gold mine in Kaladar, Ont., is showing great value. Three tons and a half were taken to Malone, in North Hastings, and put through the reduction mill. Result—a bar of gold worth $57 and sulphites worth $53. This shows the ore to be worth $30 per ton. The owners of the mine have refused $12,000 for it.

At West Richfield, Ohio, Charles Reid, depressed by financial losses and excessive heat, went into his barn and hanged himself to a rafter. His wife discovered his body swinging from the rafter. The stone work of the new departmental building at Ottawa will be completed in October, but it is expected that it will take several weeks more to complete the structure internally. According to present arrangements the Interior Department will occupy the ground floor, while the headquarters of the Departments of Indian Affairs and Agriculture will be located upstairs. The model room of the patent branch will be on the top flat. The basement, which will contain massive iron vaults, will be divided between the Interior and Agricultural Departments, the former Department utilizing the east as a storage room for filing documents. Mr. Douglas Brymner, Dominion archivis, will establish the archives branch of the Department of Agriculture in the west end of the basement, which is roomy, fire proof and well lighted.

INLAND NEWS.

Mining Matters—Frost—Water Falling—Personal Items.

[Condensed from the Kamloops Sentinel.]

Dr. Tunstall has recovered from the effects of his recent accident, and is again able to be about.

Mr. John Morrison has disposed of his mine at Nicola to an English syndicate who, it is expected, will further the work immediately.

The Thompson River has now fallen very much from its flood level, and is still falling rapidly.

Mr. McKenzie brought to Kamloops a load of ore from G. B. Wright & Co.'s mines at Nicola for the purpose of shipment. These ores are said to assay from $100 to $500 per ton.

There was frost at Nicola during the week.

The cattle purchased by Messrs. Hall, Tronnce & Co., and Mr. Victor Guillaume at Calgary, were an exceptionally fine lot; and comprised 10 Hereford bulls and 9 Polled Angus bulls—their ages ranging from yearlings to two-year-olds. They were from the herd of Senator Cochrane of Quebec, and are nearly all prize cattle.

A number of railroad employees, and some of the young men of Kamloops, meditate a trip to the Argentine Republic of South America.

The Rev. Mr. Irwin, of Donald, arrived in Kamloops last Thursday and reports work on the snow-sheds going on rapidly. About 1000 men are employed. Mr. Irwin also states that a large mining boom has taken place at Illecillewaet, which place is building up and population flowing in rapidly.

ENGLISH POLITICS.

Trouble Between Unionists and Tories Looming up.

LONDON, July 19.—Speeches at the Carleton Club to-day show much friction between the Government and Unionists. A crisis was narrowly averted. A recurrence of the trouble would probably cause a strong feeling among the Tory rank and file that the government has conceded to much to the Unionists. A sub-committee held a meeting to-night to approve of the concession made by the Conservative meeting at the Carleton Club. The commission resolved to offer no further opposition to the Land bill and to assist the government to its utmost in the dispatch of business.

Major Sanderson, Conservative, followed Lord Salisbury, and expressed thorough disapproval of the policy of the Tories in surrendering to the Liberal-Unionists. A majority of the assemblage gave entire approval to the premier's proposals.

A HOT WAVE.

Terrible Heat in the East—Frightful Fatality.

PITTSBURG, July 18.—At two o'clock this afternoon the heat reached 95. Seventeen deaths from heat were reported and twice as many more people are prostrated.

The coroners held 25 inquests on death from the heat to-day. Among them was Stephen Strong, a prominent soap manufacturer for forty years.

CINCINNATI, July 18.—This has been one of the hottest days ever known here. Up to 6 p.m., the death list footed up to 18, the total number of prostrations reported is 56. The total deaths for Cincinnati and vicinity will be not less than thirty.

CHICAGO, July 18.—There have been 183 deaths up to 9 o'clock to-night.

WASHINGTON, July 18.—H. K. Smith, druggist, crazed by the heat, suicided by jumping from his window.

DETROIT, July 18.—The thermometer registered 103 degrees in the shade. Four persons at least were sunstruck.

LOUISVILLE, July 18.—Twelve fatal cases of sunstroke this morning.

The Annual Prize Meeting—List of Prize Winners.

The fourteenth annual prize meeting of the B. C. R. A. was opened at 11 a. m. to-day at Clover Point by the President of the Association, Mr. E. C. Baker. A large number of visitors were present. A strong wind was blowing from left to right and the air was hazy, nevertheless the shooting so far has been better than that made last year. Nos. one and two competitions resulted as follows:

COMPETITION NO. 1.

200 yards, possible 35: Capt. Woolacott, 30; H Smith, 30; Gunner W Langley, 29; Capt Jones, 28; Private Newbury, 28; Sergeant Roper, 27; R Butler, 27; A Fleming, 26.

COMPETITION NO. 2.

200 and 400 yards 5 shots at each range, possible 50: Capt Woolacott, 43; Sergt. Newbury, 41; Gunner A R Langley, 40; Sergt. Roper, 39; H Wootton, 38; Gunner M J Curtis, H M S Triumph, 38; Gunner W Langley, 38; Private F Wolfenden, 37.

Customs House Changes.

From Mr. Parmelee it is learned that several changes are to be made in the staff of the custom house officials in this city. Mr. A. R. Milne, who is appraiser for this city, and who has been an inside official, and a very obliging one at that, will shortly take the outside work, assuming control of the examining room and supervising the passing through the customs of all packages and merchandise. In his new sphere he will no doubt prove as efficient an officer as he was whilst inside. Mr. Frye's duties will be strictly those of the surveyor of customs. He has been a long time in the service, and has made himself extremely popular with the importing and exporting community. The inside staff is to be increased by a couple of additional clerks, one to act as invoice clerk and the other as a checker. These are the only inside changes proposed, except that some promotions may take place. On the outside service Mr. Hunter will attend entirely to the shipping department where no doubt he will be as popular, affable and efficient an officer as is to be found in the service. Thus reorganized it is believed the Victoria staff will compare very favorably with that of any port of the Dominion.

The Nanaimo Relief Fund.

It is now certain that the total sum contributed to the Nanaimo relief fund in aid of the sufferers by the terrible accident of last May will be in the vicinity of $55,000. This is a considerable sum and a lasting monument to the generosity of those who came forward in the hour of need and so nobly contributed of their means to aid their fellow beings, who were left so suddenly and unexpectedly without any visible means of support. At a meeting of the committee held a few evenings since the mode of dealing with this fund was discussed, when it was resolved to give each widow entitled to aid an allowance of $12 per month, each child under five years $4 per month, each child over five and under ten years $6 per month, each child over 10 and under 14 years $5 per month. Deductions of $5 per month to be made in cases in which the parties own their houses, or are living in houses belonging to the V. C. Co., and which the company has arranged that the widows may continue to occupy free of rent. In the case of those having money, a deduction to be made equal to 4 per cent. per annum on the money they have. All allowances to widows are to cease when they remarry, and allowances to children are to cease when they attain the age of 14. It is estimated that the fund will enable the committee to pay the allowances as above stated for nearly seven years.

"The Times" Abroad.

Mr. L. F. Dickson of Earlingham, near London, England, is in the city and is registered at the Clarence. Mr. Dickson read a copy of THE TIMES of last October, wherein appeared an account of the fishing and shooting sport to be met with in this country—especially in the Cowichan district. The sketch given was so attractive that Mr. Dickson then and there resolved upon paying this province a personal visit. He arrived from the east last night. He is a devoted votarie of Izaak Walton, and states that he has fished for the sparkling beauties in every continent and country—China and Japan alone excepted. Last year he was in Lapland some hundreds of miles inland, where he caught trout weighing upwards of 14½ lbs. To-day he is making enquiries as to how best to reach the best known localities for piscatorial sport. His visit will be a protracted one as he will visit many sections of the province before his return.

New and Elegant Offices.

The principal object of Messrs. Kerr & Brown's visit to to the city to-day was in connection with the fitting up of the new offices for the C. P. R., in the store now occupied by Messrs. Brown & White next to M. W. Waitt & Co.'s, on Government street, for a passenger, freight and express office. It will be conveniently arranged and handsomely fitted up. The one at present occupied by the company in the office of the C. P. N. Co. will also be continued. The Dominion Express Co. will also have an office in this building. They will remove from their present quarters and run the business with their own officers. Mr. Ford, Superintendent of the company, is completing all the arrangements with this object in view.

THREADS OF GOLD

Holding the Quartz Together—A Veritable Bonanza.

From time to time, ever since the golden age of '60-'62, the people of British Columbia have been accustomed to hear of "new fields of fabulous riches," "verifable bonanzas," &c., and so often have these stories been published, only to be found unreliable, that little credence is now placed in newspaper articles, and the average miner and speculator requires to go down into the tunnel, and, like Thomas of old, by personal contact, prove or disprove the claims put forward. Of all the "bonanzas" in gold quartz reported to have been found during the past twenty years, not one remains as a developed mine to-day to prove the accuracy of the prognostications or to verify the dreams of the enthusiastic writers who gave to the world such glowing accounts of their richness. But while failure in the past may discourage many, it is not evidence that our province, rich as it is known to be in the precious metals, is not possessed of quartz mines as prolific in gold and silver as any that have been found in Nevada or California. We do not ask our readers to swallow unsaited all the information of this kind that is published, because much of it is given just as we receive it and without an opportunity for verification. But we believe the accounts that have reached us from Rock Creek, near the boundary, in the Yale district, are reliable, and that a quartz ledge has at last been located there that will surpass in extent and in richness anything ever hitherto found on the Pacific coast. The discoverers are an old Cariboo miner named Finney and a miner from Spokane Falls, who were prospecting together for placer mines along Rock Creek, where, twenty years ago, many millions were taken out. In crossing a small mountain, going towards a larger one that was seamed on its sides with streaks of white quartz, these two men saw through the moss and soil at their feet a small surface of white quartz, which they inspected at first carelessly and afterwards with greater care and interest. Knocking off a sample, gold was visible to the naked eye, and a still larger piece showed equally as well. The ledge was hastily uncovered and was found to be seven feet wide and seven hundred feet long. Shafts were sunk and for some time the "find" was kept quiet; but a visitor one day carried off a sample and had it assayed. The result was something like $20,000 to the ton, and the discovery was then soon noised abroad, and miners from the region round about, from Spokane Falls, and from Nicola and Kootenay, flocked to Rock Creek. Everything that looked like a quartz ledge near the first discovery was located, and probably to-day there are not less than one hundred claims recorded, the majority of course being entirely worthless. The first discovery is apparently a true fissure vein, seven feet wide and of great length. It is free milling quartz, without the slightest sign of sulphates, although a shaft fifteen feet deep had been sunk. Gold can be seen in almost any piece that may be picked up, while in most of the rock thin threads of the yellow metal have woven the rock together and hold it there after it has been pounded into small pieces with a hammer. An expert, named Douglas, who has been in the Kootenay country for the past year, was in the neighborhood at the time, and visiting the mine offered the discoverers, who were at work in the shaft, $75,000 to "get out of that hole." The offer was promptly refused. At least that amount of money is already in sight, and if the mine continues for fifty feet farther to show the same rock, it will be worth many millions of dollars. Nothing like it, our informant says, has ever been found before. All Granite City has emigrated bodily to Rock Creek, where the government officials will also be located. The rush is over and it is needless for more men to go, because all the ground is taken up. What is wanted is capital to prospect the ledges now located—not men to work them. It is very probable that by this time a syndicate of Boston capitalists, represented by Mr. Douglas, have secured control of the original location. If such should prove to be the case, an immediate development is certain.

THE LATE FIRE.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE TIMES:

SIR,—The various papers, THE TIMES included, have commented in what appears to me to be somewhat unfair terms on the conduct of the firemen at the fire on Saturday last at Spencer's Arcade. Fair play is a jewel, and we willingly would do nobody any harm. I happened to be at that fire and in a group of old firemen, one of whom I happened to know, and I have had some little experience in fires as a volunteer myself in the far east. We naturally got into conversation, and when we saw the smoke issuing in clouds from under the eaves we all concluded that nothing could save the building. The Victoria firemen were most positive, and I admit that I myself had no doubt on the point. We expected to see the flames break out every moment through the roof, and the question we debated was whether it would be possible then to save Williams' bindery and the group of wooden buildings extending to Yates street. The fire was controlled as a fact. Now we are told water was poured into the building which damaged some carpets. Do people imagine that a fire can be put out without water and some damage? The water, one wise sore states, was spilt in the wrong direction. He may think so. But as a fact a most dangerous fire, for no fire can be more dangerous than one burning under a metalled roof, and no fire is more difficult to master than burning from up to down, was extinguished in a very short space of time, and what threatened to be a most disastrous conflagration avoided. Under the circumstances would it not be as well to give some credit to the chief and his department for this result. If ever Victoria is visited by such fires as the city I come from has been, the people will learn the wisdom there is in the policy of confining the fire to the building it has originated in, and drowning it out at all cost in the beginning.

A Thing of the Past.

Next year's "round up" of cattle on the Colorado ranges will probably be the last, if the Denver Republican is correct. Cattle raising on the range exclusively is said to be a thing of the past in Colorado, the change having been brought about by farmers settling on the grazing lands, which they are taking up under the homestead and timber culture laws.

POLITICS IN ENGLAND.

Apparent Discussions Between Unionists and Tories.

Bulgarian Throne—Standard Oil Co. Fire.

WILL SOON SURRENDER.

LONDON, July 20.—The Times, referring to the concessions made by the Conservatives to the Liberal ministry in regard to the Land bill, says the government was probably moved less by fear that their allies would desert them than by a perception of the importance of their doing nothing to weaken the position of the dissidents. Gladstone last evening addressed a select company which assembled to form a branch Woman Liberal Formation, of which Gladstone is President. Referring to yesterday's meeting of the Conservatives at the Carleton Club, he said it has gone abroad that this fortress, represented by Goschen, as a fortress requiring to be defended by the government to the last of its power and to the last moment of its existence, will be surrendered to the evidence offered by the electors.

Sir Robert Fowler writes to the Times denying that he used strong language toward Howell, which that gentleman imputes to him.

ENGLISH POLITICS.

LONDON, July 20.—Chamberlain was the principal agent in conducting the negotiations between the Government and the Unionists. The Post this morning reiterates its cry for unity among the Unionists, and says the source of weakness will be apparent so long as Salisbury is compelled to declare himself in a minority. A new appeal should be made to the Unionists to take their places in the ministry. The Government has betrayed the Irish landlords for the sake of union and office.

Powers, Irish Commissioner, has reduced judicial rents which will be voted for two years, at the end of which time it is expected the Purchase Bill will be in operation.

Howell has notified Fowler that he will call attention to Fowler's conduct, calling Howell a d—n liar.

CANADIANS AT WIMBLEDON.

LONDON, July 20.—The rifle contest for the Kolapore cup took place at Wimbledon to-day. The English team won, the aggregate score being 710; Canadian team second, 664. The second prize, which the Canadian team received, was £80.

FREEDOM OF DUBLIN.

DUBLIN, July 20.—In compliance with a request made by the Parnellite members of the Commons, Lord Mayor Sullivan has called a meeting of the municipal council for Friday, when the freedom of the city will be conferred on Wm. O'Brien, editor of the United Ireland and Hon. Pat. Collins, of Boston, Mass.

ALARMING RUMORS.

BUCHAREST, July 20.—It is reported from Russian sources that the Bulgarian government has arrested M. Radorlsvoff, Premier and Minister of the Interior, in the Cabinet just superseded. The arrest is said to have been made on a charge of treason. The new minister is said to be afraid the opposition will annoy the new government. It is also reported that troops have entered and proclaimed the independence of Bulgaria, and Prince Alexander of Battenburg as King.

THE BELGIUM ARMY.

BRUSSELS, July 20.—A sensation was caused here by a speech by Lieut.-General Vandersmissen, commander of the army at Brussels, yesterday after a review of the troops, in which he violently attacked parliament for rejecting the personal military service bill, added the independence and honor of Belgium depended upon an increase of the army.

RELEASED.

PARIS, July 20.—Baron Zublecre, a rich Frenchman, who was placed in a lunatic asylum by his relations, who charged that he was insane over an imaginery fortune which he had made in America, has been released from the asylum.

RUSSIAN INTRIGUE.

BOMBAY, July 20.—The natives report that Russia is secretly negotiating with the government of Yarkand on Chinese Turkestan, for permission to pass troops across their country.

LOOKING AFTER DEFENCES.

SIMLA, July 20.—The government is making special inquiry into the condition of the external and internal defences, although it is stated no entanglement is feared.

ANOTHER COLLISION.

LONDON, July 20.—Two more ironclads have been in collision. The Agincourt was run into to-day at Portsmouth by the Black Prince and damaged.

WILL ACKNOWLEDGE FERDINAND.

CONSTANTINOPLE, July 20.—France will acknowledge Prince Ferdinand of Saxe-Coburg Gotha, as ruler of Bulgaria, because the Roumelians permitted a vote in the Sobranje for his election.

WELCOMES WILLIAM.

VIENNA, July 20.—The Press welcomes Emperor William to Austria in an unusually warm manner.

BERGEN POINT, N. Y., July 20.—The Standard Oil fire is now under control: loss about $1,500,000.

THE PRESIDENT.

WASHINGTON, July 20.—The President and party arrived at Washington at 10 o'clock this morning.

FIRE.

CINCINNATI, Ohio, July 20.—Briggs Swift's Old Park House, corner Tenth and Sycamore streets, was burned this morning; loss, $150,000; insurance $92,000.

HURRICANE.

BUENOS AYRES, July 20.—A hurricane has prevailed on the coast and a number of vessels are believed to be ashore.

TESTING THE ATLANTA.

NEW YORK, July 20.—The Sun says: Private letters from officers and machinists on board the new steel cruiser Atlanta, says that during a target practice in Gardner Bay, day before yesterday, the pinch bow and stern barbette pilot guns recoiled with such force as to tear loose the tracks on which they turned, and also to rip up a portion of the heavy gun deck. These guns are the heaviest afloat in the service, and those on board the Atlanta are the first to be tested on board ship by our naval officers. Just how serious the damage is would not be learned.

A PACIFIC CABLE.

SAN FRANCISCO, July 19.—Members of the Chamber of Commerce held a meeting this afternoon, at which the following concerning the proposed Pacific cable was adopted: "Whereas, the political and commercial relations of the United States and Hawaiian Islands, South Pacific Islands and Australia are rapidly increasing; and, whereas, laying of telegraphic cables on this route is accompanied with grave scientific questions which will prevent the use of exclusively private capital therein; therefore, be it resolved, that the Chamber of Commerce of San Francisco forward to the ensuing Congress a memorial to be improved by the Board of Trustees, earnestly petitioning our Government to offer such inducements that capital may be attracted to this great enterprise and political advantage to the whole country.

CANADIAN NEWS.

CANADIAN RECIPROCITY.

OTTAWA, July 16.—Speaking of the reciprocity agitation, the Hon. Wm. McDougall said yesterday: "I was present at the meeting of Messrs. Wiman and Butterworth, at Dufferin Lake and Drayton. I doubt if either converted a single farmer in the vast audiences. Two or three Conservatives whom I met at Orangeville expressed fear that unrestricted reciprocity might lead to annexation. I reminded them that the experiment had already been tried; that from 1854 to 1866 reciprocity in all the natural productions of Canada and the United States existed; that during no other twelve years of our history had the country enjoyed a greater prosperity or heard less about annexation. The strong desire of our farmers is to get easy access to American markets for their natural products, barley and other grains."

THE MASONS.

Annual Assembly of the Sovereign Great Priory, Knights Templar.

BROCKVILLE, Ont. July 12.—The annual assembly of the Sovereign Grand Priory, Knights Templar, was held in the Masonic Hall here to-day, Grand Master Col. Moore presiding. The only matter of importance transacted was the refusal of the Great Priory to withdraw the warrant of the Metropolitan Preceptory at Melbourne, Australia, and at the request of the Grand Preceptory of England on the pain of non-intercourse. The vote stood 43 to 11.

The election of officers then took place and resulted as follows: Grand master, Colonel McLeod Moore, Prescott; D.G. M., J. A. Henderson, Q. C., Kingston; grand prelate, Rev. F. Bates, Chatham; grand constable, W. R. Howse, Whitby; grand marshal, J. P. Thomas, Belleville; grand chancellor, D Spry, Barrie; grand treasurer, D. McLellan, Hamilton; grand registrar, Joseph Martin, Montreal. The following Right Eminent Sir Knights were elected to the Grand Council after a spirited contest: J. S. Dewar, London, 64; J. R. Robertson, Toronto, 62; H. Robertson, Collingwood, 62; D. Ross, Picton, 56; E. T. Malone, Toronto, 55.

The following district priors were elected: London, Joseph Beck, of Godgrich; Hamilton, W G Reid, Hamilton; Toronto, J B Trayes, Port Hope; Kingston, R F Mathews, Kingston; Montreal, Isaac Stearns, Montreal; New Brunswick, S F Mathews, St. John; Nova Scotia, L B Archibald, Halifax; Manitoba, W G Bell, Winnipeg.

The election of J. S. Dewar to the Grand Council by the largest vote cast in the Grand Priory gives universal satisfaction. He is deservedly popular in every branch of Masonry.

Navigation on the Fraser.

The Columbian is devoting attention to the improvement of the navigation of the great natural highway of the mainland. It is belived that at present the condition of matters at the mouth of the Fraser is worse than they have been for many years back. Vessels entering are obliged to grope about with line and lead and find deep water as best they may. This condition of things has existed for some weeks, and although representations have been made to the proper authorities nothing has been done. At the entrance of the north arm the most important beacons were carried away last winter and have never been replaced. The Fraser river is incomparably the most important river in British Columbia, and if the people of the mainland sit still and allow the entrance to be neglected and the obstacles to navigation to accumulate, they will very soon find trade leaving the river altogether and making for itself new channels elsewhere. It seems, says the Columbian, ever impossible to secure promptness relating to the mainland when the official agency is in Victoria. When Capt. Lewis obtained the appointment of marine agent it was hoped things would be different, but it is to be feared he is drifting into the old condition of inaction which made his predecessor so unpopular. Our contemporary then adds that the navigation of mainland rivers ought to be under the control of a mainland officer, and nothing less than this will meet mainland necessities.

The Martyred Bishop.

Seattle Post-Intelligencer: Bishop Seghers was one of the best known priests of the Catholic Church on the Pacific Coast. Several years ago he was elevated to the Archbishopric of Oregon, as co-adjutor of Archbishop Blanchet, since dead. This high and very comfortable position, for which he was thoroughly qualified, he resigned, to take up the work among the Indians of British Columbia and Alaska. He was thereupon appointed Bishop of that jurisdiction, and the distinguished honor of the pallium was conferred upon him. Instead of settling down in the palace at Victoria, he went into the field, choosing the hardest part of it for his own work—in Central Alaska, hundreds of miles from the nearest out-posts of civilization, a region so remote and so difficult of access that the report of his death was not heard until eight months after its occurrence. Bishop Seghers possessed the spirit of the ancient martyrs, would face lions or burn in the fire for his faith, and, led on by that spirit in the cause of his Master, has at last been made a martyr himself.

BEHRING SEA.

Our unneighborly neighbors are determined, if possible, to frighten our sealers from Behring Sea, which they have proclaimed to be their exclusive hair-pond. A year ago several Canadian and American sealing vessels were seized for taking seals in Behring Sea, and altogether the extraordinary pretention then set up has been met by our government and shown to be untenable, awaiting game has ever since been played, and no final decision has ever been come to. The procrastinating policy had an object, which becomes apparent now that another season has been entered upon and other seizures have been made. It does not appear to be the wish of the American government to arrive at a settlement, especially as that settlement—judging by the utterances of the leading journals of the union—will be fatal to the extraordinary claims put forward by the U. S. authorities at the instance of the Alaska Commercial Co. By keeping the question an open one, it was hoped that the Canadian sealers would be deterred from venturing into the "private preserve" known as Behring Sea, a hope that has not been realized. The same policy, unfortunately, is to be pursued during this season, and our schooners are to be subjected to seizure and confiscation, and their crews to insult and imprisonment. Uncle SAM is playing a bluff game, and is offsetting on the Pacific the seizures made by Canada on the Atlantic. The sealing question is an outcome of the fishery trouble, and is a portion of the policy of retaliation which our cousins have unwisely, ungeneroously and unjustifiably introduced. It does not seem at all probable that there will be any settlement of the Behring Sea difficulty until the more important fishery dispute on the Atlantic coast has been disposed of, and the U. S. Government may be depended upon to keep the former precisely where it is now until the latter is arranged to their satisfaction, or as nearly thereto as they can get it. It is one of the tricks in the game they are playing. The justice of the "claim" has nothing to do with the matter.

BRITISH COLUMBIA'S POSITION.

The Toronto Mail in discussing the tariff and its effect upon the various provinces of the Dominion, some time ago, said: "In the case of British Columbia a glance at the map is sufficient to show that it is nothing short of a crime against man and nature to compel the settler there to trade by rail with markets 2,700 miles distant, when he is within easy reach by water of Portland and San Francisco." To this the Peterborough Review takes exception and asks: "Why should British Columbia send its produce to the Atlantic, and why should it not find a better market for its coal, its timber, its fish, etc., on the Canadian prairies than at San Francisco? And why should not British Columbia get its cottons, its woollens, etc., from Ontario and Quebec as well as from New England by way of San Francisco?" To this our Toronto contemporary replies: "The reason why British Columbia does not find a better market for its coal, timber and fish on the Canadian prairies than it finds in San Francisco, is the circumstance that there is no market for the coal and timber on the prairies, whereas there is one in San Francisco. The Northwest people are mining their own coal; and, sparse as the forced growth in the West is, there is sufficient wood there as yet to meet the modest requirements of the various settlements. As to fish, if the British Columbians were to sell none until the Northwest settlers were ready to buy from them the salmon industry would have to be suspended. The reason why British Columbia might get its cottons and woollens better from San Francisco than from Ontario and Quebec is the circumstance that the province exports to San Francisco products the proceeds from which will pay for the cottons and woollens bought there, whereas it sends nothing to Ontario or Quebec which it can exchange for Ontario or Quebec goods. But if British Columbia could trade more profitably with Eastern Canada or even with the Northwest than San Francisco, by all means let it trade with its neighbors within the Dominion. There can be no objection to such trade. The objection is to the forcing of British Columbians to trade with Ontario, Quebec and the Northwest whether they will or not, whether it pays them or not.

It is said the object of Sir Alex. Campbell's trip to Newfoundland is to endeavor to induce that colony to join confederation. The new government there is in favor of the project. Would it not be better policy to consolidate what we have got rather than increase our territorial area.

THE TIDE CHANGING.

It would appear by the bye-elections in England that the tide of public opinion in that country is going against the government, a fact that is commented upon as showing that the country is ready for GLADSTONE's Irish bill. Others say this is assuming too much, and that the recent elections by no means is a true index to public opinion in the country. The result of the polls certainly shows a great falling off in the Conservative strength. In yesterday's Times was to be found a dispatch giving the result of a contest in Hampshire in which it was shown that the Conservative vote had fallen off by 600 whilst the Liberal strength had increased by 100. Bye elections frequently go against the government, and they to a certain extent indicate public opinion. It is quite true that the party out of power was hard to carry these elections, whilst the party in power are indifferent in many instances with the result. Another reason, and a good one, is to be found in the fact that people feel that they have done their duty by standing by the government in the general election and are free to vote on their views on local issues in the by-elections. It is the local issues that usually decide the by-elections, not any particular question on which the government has taken ground. It is true that Mr. GLADSTONE speaks in the most hopeful terms of the Liberal chances of carrying the country at a general election; but when did not Mr. GLADSTONE, out of office, speak in hopeful terms of getting back? No man takes a more roseate view of matters than he, and it is in a measure owing to the fact that he has been able to communicate his enthusiasm to his followers that his wonderful success as a leader is due.

THE ONDERDONK CONTRACT

By many it has been known that the C. P. R. had set up a claim with the government that the ONDERDONK contract had not been finished according to the contract, and a sum said to be in the neighborhood of a million claimed as the sum necessary to be expended to put the road in proper shape. It is now reported that an arbitration court will sit in this city at an early date to investigate and pass judgment upon the matters in dispute. There can be no question as to the quality of the work done by the ONDERDONK clique being of an inferior quality and not at all in accordance with the well understood principles upon which a first class railway—such as it was intended to make the prominent section of the C. P. R. in this province—should be constructed. The true inwardness of the shady acts connected with that work would fill a large volume; but a full knowledge of the facts will never be revealed, unless something extraordinary occurs—and we fear that is highly improbable now. The arbitrators, it is to be hoped, will sift the whole matter to the very bottom and examine many persons who can throw much light upon the manner in which the work was carried on, and the reason why such a claim is now made by the Canadian Pacific Railway Company for overhauling and completing work which should have been finished by the government contractor and for which he was so handsomely paid.

POLITICAL AND PERSONAL.

The persistency with which United States papers will have it that Newfoundland is a Canadian province is wonderful. Nine times out of ten an American journalist exhibits the most profound ignorance when he attempts to discuss anything affecting Canada.

It is said that Mr. Chapleau is to endeavor while in Paris to bring about an extension of the commercial relations between France and the Dominion. It is pretty certain now that he is to remain in the Cabinet, as Lieut.-Governor Masson has consented not to press his resignation.

"Among Englishmen," says the London Athenæum, "we, of course, include our brothers in the United States." The Canadian opponents of reciprocity do not so regard our neighbors. They would fain make the people of Canada believe that the people of the United States are not brothers, but a pack of rascals, with whom it is positively dangerous to trade.

Says the St. John, N.B., Telegraph: There is something of grandeur in the scheme. Free trade from the Gulf to the frozen north! Already Ontario is stirred with the idea. But we have more to gain, for it means business for our ships and our coasters, as well as better wages for our artizans, and increased value for every foot of real estate.

The New York World has been investigating the condition of the coal mines of Pennsylvania, and describes them as being worse off than if in slavery. It is said that robbery and poverty are ever glaring in at the window, that childhood is blighted and manhood crushed by the coal barons' greed. It is a very interesting, instructive, if not very cheerful, picture from the hot-bed of Protection, Pennsylvania.

The New York Tribune gives currency to the report that Senator John Sherman has recently become a believer in, and advocate of, unrestricted reciprocity between the States and Canada, and that he will make a tour of the Dominion during August and September in favor of the movement. It states that Mr. Butterworth will accompany him, and possibly Mr. Wiman, and that they will make a trip over the Canadian Pacific Railway.

A writ has been issued for South Renfew. Nomination will be on the 26th of July, polling on the 2nd of August. At a Conservative convention, Mr. Ferguson, the unsuccessful candidate at last election, was chosen as the Conservative candidate. A Liberal convention will be held on the 21st, when Cartwright will be present to urge the nomination of Hon. Mr. Anglin.

TEA STORES' TOYS.

QUEER DISCOVERIES MADE BY AN INQUISITIVE NEWSPAPER MAN.

The Latest Thing in Mechanical Toys—In Demand by the Tea Stores—The Cheap Chrome Craze and the Gift Business.

The latest thing in mechanical toys can be seen in one or two stores on Broadway. Placed in the show windows, the toy attracts great crowds. It is of German origin, and it first made its appearance here before the holidays. It represents an old man in dressing gown and nightcap endeavoring to annihilate a rat with something that looks like a tennis bat. What tickles the risibilities of the admiring crowd outside the window is the expression of abject disappointment on the old man's face as he strikes where the rat ought to be. The toy when wound up will attract a crowd and keep pickpockets busy for about two hours.

Curiosity impelled the writer to seek some information about the origin and price of this man and rat combination. He did not intend to purchase. Being a married man he gets "rats" at home at first cost. A young man—further description of him is unnecessary, he was a Broadway clerk—smiled and pulled out a pad, as though he was about to take an order. When informed that curiosity was the object of his visit his suavity did not desert him—he was still a Broadway clerk.

The courteous clerk explained that his chief imported half a dozen of the toys last year. They cost about $6 each, and were sold at from $8 to $10. He continued: "Our firm, having a toy factory, resolved to find workmen in this country capable of making the same kind of mechanism. They succeeded, and now the toys are made at a cost of about $36 a dozen."

BUYERS OF TEA AND COFFEE.

"Do you sell many?"

"Yes, as fast as we can manufacture. A few days ago we had an order for fifty from a western retail tea store."

"What would a tea store want with such things?"

"They give them away to purchasers of tea and coffee. These tea men nowadays give away many things in our line. We sell them dolls, toilet sets, boxes of paints, and many other knickknacks. Just go up to Grand street and see what they have in their windows to give away to customers."

Thinking the urbane Broadway clerk, the reporter wended his way to Grand street to find out how tea stores can afford to be so liberal.

In due time he stepped into a store, the leading tint of which was vermilion. There was nothing to distinguish the interior from a crockery store except the vermilion and a strong odor of roasted coffee. The reporter approached a man who presided over the cash desk and wore a polo cap and a sweet smile, and who proved to be the manager of the concern, and asked how tea stores could be so lavish with crockery and such things to their patrons.

"Some years ago," said the wearer of the polo cap, "a house in this city began giving away cheap chromos. That was the beginning of the evil. Their trade increased, for in those days people were chromo crazy. The introduction of glassware and crockery had its origin in the inventive brain of a man who is now very wealthy and is in business on Second avenue. I wish he was in Jericho. Then began sharp competition. Each tea man vied with the others in inventing some new 'take' to catch the foolish housekeeper. The customers when posted in this gift enterprise business became very exacting. I shouldn't be surprised some day to hear a lady asking for a ton of coal or a piano after purchasing five pounds of tea.

BASIS OF THE BUSINESS.

"With every purchase of tea and coffee we give tickets in this way. With one pound of fifty cent tea or with two pounds of thirty cent coffee we give one whole ticket. This is the basis. Some articles that we give away—such as lamps and clocks—require as many as twenty-five full tickets. One ticket on an average is equal to from six to eight cents off the profits."

"Your profits must be pretty large to permit of such liberality," suggested the reporter.

"Well, now, I don't mind telling you, since you seem anxious. Our teas at fifty cents a pound cost us about twenty-one cents, and our coffee at thirty cents, when we sell it ground, stands us about twelve cents a pound; so, you see, even though we are liberal, we will make a large profit."

"You say when you sell the coffee ground?"

"That's what I said. You see, chickory, rye, and peas do not cost as much as coffee."

"And where do they come in?"

"Ah, I see you are not on to many of the tricks of our trade. Don't you know that when we sell ground coffee nearly half of it is chickory, rye, and peas? Great Scott! man, how do you think we are going to live and give an eight day clock with ten whole tickets?"

"Do you adulterate your teas, too?"

"Well, no; that would not pay. You see we mix coffee and blend teas. By blending I mean we mix good, bad, and middling together, call it some outlandish combination or 'chop,' and 'let her go.'"—New York Herald.

Jay Gould Eats Snails.

Jay Gould has set down towners to eating snails. Nearly every afternoon since his return from his far western trip the great little financier has stopped at the office of a transatlantic steamship company, stayed a few seconds in the agent's sanctum and emerged with a brown papered parcel, which he carried home with the air of possessing something very precious. These packages contained each about a quart of snails, of the species eaten in some parts of France, and especially imported by some of the steamship men as a favor to friends.

Mr. Gould got his appetite for snails in New Mexico, however, and "got it bad," as one close observer declares. He has the things cooked under stringent orders to boil them first in their shells, then submerge them in a highly flavored sauce and finally roast them. They are served in the shells, which by this time are thoroughly browned. When eaten they are piled hot on a plate, after the manner of roasted clams, and the eater extracts them by holding a shell in his left hand, while with a fork in his right he gets the curious morsel out. The taste is pleasant, if one isn't squeamish, and a liking is easily acquired for the "escargots," as they are called in the restaurants where they have been this week suddenly introduced. Some are brought from France, but the bulk are gathered by boys in the outlying districts. Mr. Gould has hitherto been famous for a plain diet, and so his mania for snails is all the more a Wall street wonder.—New York Sun.

Too Much Starch in Cuba.

The operations of the toilet are sometimes still further retarded by the necessity of rubbing the starch out of any articles needed from the last week's wash.

I have not yet succeeded in convincing Paula, the laundress, that when I say "No starch" I mean precisely that, and am prepared for no compromise whatsoever. The Cuban practice is to starch all garments, without exception, to the utmost degree of stiffness. How they manage to wear them I cannot imagine. The sensations of a foreigner are best described by a certain Herr Wagner I met in Havana.

"The first time that I sat down in a clean shirt from a Cuban laundry," said he, "I thought I must have landed on a pile of broken crockery. And when it became necessary to put on a Cubanized night shirt I sat up till 3 o'clock in the morning trying to rub the scratch and the crackle out of it. As for pocket handkerchiefs, you might as well use sand paper."—Youth's Companion.

COL. INGERSOLL'S HOME LIFE.

The Sunday Evening Informal Receptions. A Daughter's Great Happiness.

Col. and Mrs. Ingersoll are living this winter at No. 89 Fifth avenue, with their two only children, Miss Ingersoll and Miss Maud Ingersoll, both of whom are now "out." They go a great deal into society, and have received formally a number of times this last season, but the Sunday evening informal receptions are particularly the colonel's. A great many of his own friends come then, and, with the bright and pretty women whom the ladies ask, there is much that is sparkling and enjoyable.

Mrs. Ingersoll is a big, handsome woman, whose happy face shows in every line the love and the loyalty that has been lavished upon her. Miss Ingersoll is a tall, slender girl with a face of the type made dear to us as the "Madonna" style of beauty—fair, serene, pure and lovable. Miss Maud is darker and rosier and extremely like her father in temperament and mental qualities—an extremely bright and witty girl. The two girls are inseparable and have never been away from each other but one night, nor from their father and mother but two nights in their lives.

Last year they tried to go to Elberon for two weeks, but papa and mamma, having let them go, went after them in just two days. They could not bear the loneliness. And no one who does not know the closeness of the ties that bind them together could appreciate what that "loneliness" meant. Miss Ingersoll was speaking of her life to a friend the other day, and she said most truly that she knew people would not believe what hers and her sister's had been. Never in all her life had she heard either her father or her mother speak an angry or impatient word. Never had she been denied a pleasure or forced to do anything unpleasant. She had simply, she said, from the day she can remember first, been made so happy that sometimes it frightened her, used to it as she was. "When I see other people," she said, "and see how unhappy they are I feel almost wicked to be so happy myself." In this same little confidential talk she said of her father—said it with tears of love in her eyes: "Nobody but his wife and his girls know how absolutely perfect a man he is." Could any man ask more of life than praise like that?—Fannie B. Merrill in New York World.

The Queen of Rags.

Speaking of the poor, one of the queerest figures in New York is that of a woman who never wears anything but rags, but such a wild and wonderful assortment of them that she is really picturesque. She is generally known in the quarters she frequents as Crazy Kate, but sometimes called the Queen of Rags for a change. Never had the most gorgeous rainbow more colors than this queer creature combines in her ragged raiment. I tried to count them the last time I saw her, but had to give it up. From the mass of rags on her head to the tattered fringe of rags at her heels, she was a perambulating kaleidoscope, so far as variations of color went. She gathers the rags wherever they can be found, often fishing them out of the gutters, and, as she never attempts to clean them, the amount of dirt she carries about in her daily wanderings may be imagined. She not only clothes herself with rags, but wears layer upon layer of them, reefed and tacked and strung around her till she is swathed like a mummy.

One of the worst tenements in New York is a building called the "Barracks," near the Battery. Crazy Kate is one of its tenants. She has a room in it, and the room contains hardly anything but rags and rotten apples. Next to her mania for rags is a passion for gathering rotten apples and going through the form of peddling them at the downtown docks and sometimes in the shipping offices and others. Nobody ever buys her apples, but a great many who know her oddities give her nickels and dimes, of which it is said, she takes such a good care, notwithstanding the bee in her bonnet, that she has quite a little store laid by for a rainy day. There was a romantic story told about her some years ago to the effect that being in love with a sailor boy who went to sea and never came back, she lost her mind in consequence, but it is not accepted in the "Barracks," where the general opinion is that Crazy Kate was born that way. She is an odd creature certainly, but quite harmless, the "Barracks" people say.—New York Cor. Detroit Free Press.

American Women's Feet.

We have had so much to do with hands this winter, they have been so mapped and described, that it is rather pleasant to have the feet mentioned, even if in so uncomplimentary a manner as that remark of Mr. George Riddle, which has gone round the world, that the "Boston foot is proverbially large." This is a queer statement for an artist to make who has gotten up many Greek plays, and who has done his costuming so well as has Mr. Riddle.

The Boston foot is hereditarily small, as are all American feet. On a glass case in Paris, where the best slippers and boots are made for the feminine foot, stands a very beautiful plaster model of the foot of a Boston woman, so small, so delicate, with an instep so high that the water runs under it. The ankle is especially admired by artists, as a sort of race horse delicacy of articulation is combined with race horse strength of tendon. It is the foot and ankle of a thoroughbred creature, and fulfills all the conditions of the sculptor's needs.—Mrs. John Sherwood in New York World.

Perverse Human Nature.

Dr. W. S. Caldwell deals the women physicians abroad a hard blow in the following, which he writes from Paris to The Chicago Medical Journal: "Most American physicians whom one meets here are young men just from the colleges, and they are too often only interested in such cases as a man would see only occasionally in a lifetime. They are eager to see Billroth resect the pylorus for cancer, and are constantly presenting their cards to Pean to get a chance to see operations that they never ought to attempt to perform. But I am even more disgusted with some of the lady physicians who come here to Paris. They will be pushed and jostled amid the great throng that follow the surgical service of Gillan at the Hotel Dieu; sit on a back seat with an opera glass in hand to see Pean amputate a man's leg at the hip joint; but go to the children's hospital, where Simon holds his clinic, and one finds not a single one of them there."

Working Towards the Millennium.

First Omaha Man—What keeps you so doors so much now?

Second Omaha Man—I am working on a new idea and want to get it patented as soon as possible. It's a fishing rod.

"Shouldn't think there would be much chance for improvement in fishing rods."

"This is a new sort of folding affair which when taken apart presents the appearance of having been broken by accident. There is also inside the handle a space for a set of snake rattles."

"What earthly use will such a contrivance be?"

"Why, you see, when a man comes home without any fish and his jug empty he can hand his wife the broken fish pole and show her the rattles of the snake that bit him."—Omaha World.

No man ever lived a right life who had not been chastened by a woman's love, strengthened by her courage and guided by her discretion.—Ruskin.

A pretty conceit in a bar pin is that of a canoe with the bars resting in the oarlocks and a gold rope hanging over the bow of the boat.

If a person is threatened with fainting, bathe the head with warm, not cold, water.

Where there is room in the heart, there is always room in the house.—Moore.

Hamlet Last Night.

The attendance at the Victoria last night although larger than on the previous occasion was not what it ought to have been considering the play and the reputation of the principal actor—Mr. Geo. Miln. The play was one of the immortal Shakespeare's best—that of Hamlet. It was expected Mr. Miln would excel himself in the portrayal of Hamlet. Those who were so fortunate as to hear him some three years ago were not disappointed, for the effort was in every way worthy the talented actor who sustained his part throughout in the most admirable manner. Since his appearance at the old Philharmonic Hall in 1884 Mr. Miln has been playing on the boards in many of the largest cities in the east to large and enthusiastic audiences. Everywhere he was cordially received by appreciative audiences. His progress towards perfection in the histrionic art has been rapid. He has had to encounter obstacles such as few men have to meet, but he has manfully surmounted them all and won his way up step by step in spite of the determined opposition given him. His fine voice was brought into full play last night, when his dramatic talent, which is of a very high order, had full swing, and they were brought out with great advantage. It would be difficult to say in which part he excelled, for he was brilliant in every act. Those who have not yet heard Mr. Miln should not fail to attend this evening, which is his last for the season. It will be a treat not likely to be offered again for some time. Mr. Miln, was ably supported by his troupe, amongst whom are some excellent actors. Miss Paye's Ophelia was well rendered, especially so the mad scene, which was so realistic that one would be forced to believe that the fair and talented actress was really demented.

The play to-night will be Damon and Pythias.

Senator Miller, Q. C.

A few days since it was announced in these columns that Senator Miller was on his way to this city. The honorable gentleman arrived last night and is a guest at the Driard. Senator Miller is a well-known public man in the east. Prior to his being called to the Senate in 1867, he rendered his native province, Nova Scotia, considerable service. He sat in the Provincial Assembly from 1863 till the union. He favored Confederation, but was opposed to the financial basis of the scheme. In the Senate he has proved himself to be a wise and prudent counsellor. Although a Conservative in politics he has never been regarded as an extremist. From Mr. Mackenzie as well as from Sir John he had been offered a seat on the bench, but for reasons best known to himself declined both offers. For some years he was speaker of the Senate. He is a Q. C., and a pushing, energetic business man as well, interested in many of the industries of Nova Scotia. He will remain in the city for a few days prior to returning to the east.

Gladstone Cigars.

Customs Seizures.

The Customs Department will shortly reorganize the present system with a view to doing away with the sharing by salaried customs officers in the profits and penalties of seizures. The abuse of this sort of thing is claimed to be at the bottom of nearly all the present discontent with the customs system.

Tony Cigars.

The Provincial Exhibition.

The people of Chilliwhack are making extensive preparations for the annual provincial exhibition, which is to be held there sometime next month. The necessary grounds have been secured, and buildings and sheds for the accommodation of the various exhibits are in course of construction.

Not the Right Man.

Mr. Wm. Kenton, who recently carried on business as a cigar and tobacco vendor at a Yates street stand, says he is not the man referred to in last night's TIMES, for he has not been hiding, neither did he ever live in Arkansas. He was a passenger by this morning's Vancouver steamer for the mainland.

He contemplated a visit to Alaska, but business compels him to return home at once. He is much pleased with Victoria and has resolved to come again.

BEHRING SEA OUTRAGES.

Additional Particulars About the Last Seizures.

SAN FRANCISCO, July 18.—The Challenge (30 tons) of Seattle was taken on July 1st in Ekaten harbor, on Ekaten Island. When overhauled by the Rush no seals were to be seen, but there was blood on the deck, and other evidences that the crew had been engaged in sealing. The Rush took charge of her in spite of the protests of her captain, who urged that every skin he had was obtained in the open waters of the Pacific.

Two days later the Annie Beck was seized near St. Georges, which is not far from Ounalaska. As in the case of the Challenge, there was blood on the deck, and the crew appeared as if they had been hard at it. Her captain set up a protest, and said that he would demand satisfaction through the British government. He was likewise sent off to Sitka, where he, as well as the American captain, are to be tried.

When the Dora departed from Ounalaska, there was a fleet of twenty sealers hovering off Sanack, under espionage by the Rush. Others were reported at Unga, and the officers of the Rush were in need of assistance. The Bear has gone to the Arctic waters.

Give Them a Chance.

That is to say, your lungs. Also all your breathing machinery. Very wonderful machinery it is. Not only the larger air-passages, but the thousands of little tubes and cavities leading from them.

When these are clogged and choked with matter which ought not to be there, your lungs cannot half do their work. And what they do, they cannot do well.

Call it cold, cough, croup, pneumonia, catarrh, consumption or any of the family of throat and nose and head and lung obstructions, all are bad. All ought to be got rid of. There is just one sure way to get rid of them. That is to take Boschee's German Syrup, which any druggist will sell you at 75 cents a bottle. Even if everything else has failed you, you may depend upon this for certain.

Rumor Denied.

A dispatch from Montreal on the 15th inst. contradicts a rumor first given currency by a Chicago paper, and repeated by the Colonist of this city, with amplifications, a few days ago. The dispatch says: A few days since the Chicago Interocean had a sensational dispatch from Winnipeg stating that the Allans, of Montreal, owing to their connection with the Manitoba and Northwestern, were backing the Red River road in order to obtain an outlet for their traffic. Your correspondent has Hugh A. Allan's authority for contradicting the statement. He has just returned from England, and transacted no railway business since, and assures me none of the family have or intend to have anything to do in the trouble between Manitoba and the C. P. R.

Railway Officials.

Mr. Robert Kerr, general freight and passenger agent of the C. P. R., at Winnipeg, with Mrs. Kerr and two children, are guests at the Driard.

Mr. D. E. Brown, district freight and passenger agent, Vancouver, is in the city, and is a guest at the Driard.

Mr. J. Hamilton, assistant train dispatcher at Donald is in the city. It is now three years since Mr. Hamilton came from Moncton, Wellington county, and for over two years of that period he has been in the mountains in connection with the C. P. R. He reports business generally as lively at Donald, Revelstoke and other points in the high latitudes of this province through which the C. P. R passes.
